

Dear friends,

We have all grown up knowing that each year on November 11th at 11am we stop and remember all those who have fought in our wars and lost their lives.

Sadly wars continue to happen and there have been many since that first Armistice day on 11th November 1918 and some going on today. So this year as well as remembering those who have died, both known to us and not, may we also say a prayer for those fighting today in the wars happening in our world.

With love from us all at Caraway
